User Interactions Storyboard

User accesses home page of website. He is not a registered user so he clicks register to sign up.

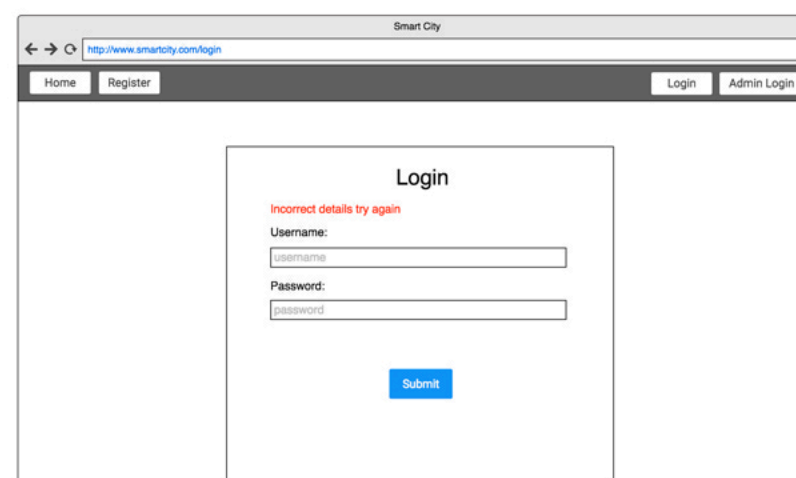

User enters all required information to register and then clicks to submit button to register. His details are then registered on the wite database.

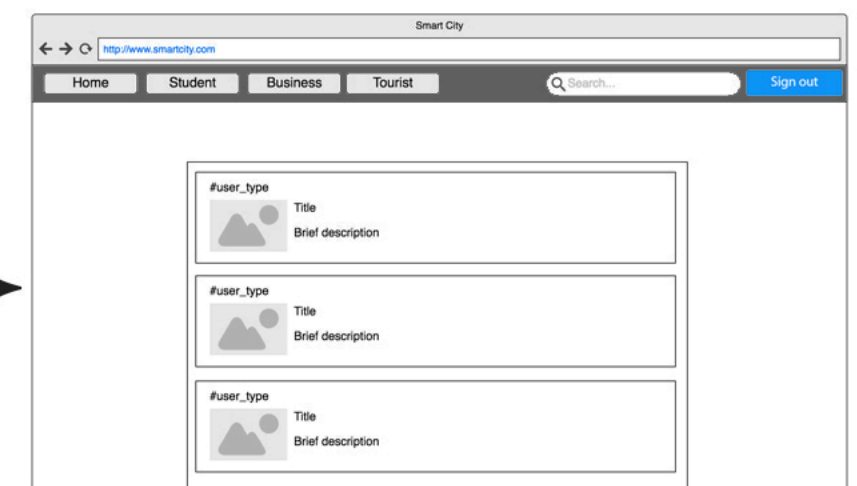

User is redirected back to the home page and wants to log in. The user clicks the login button to do this.

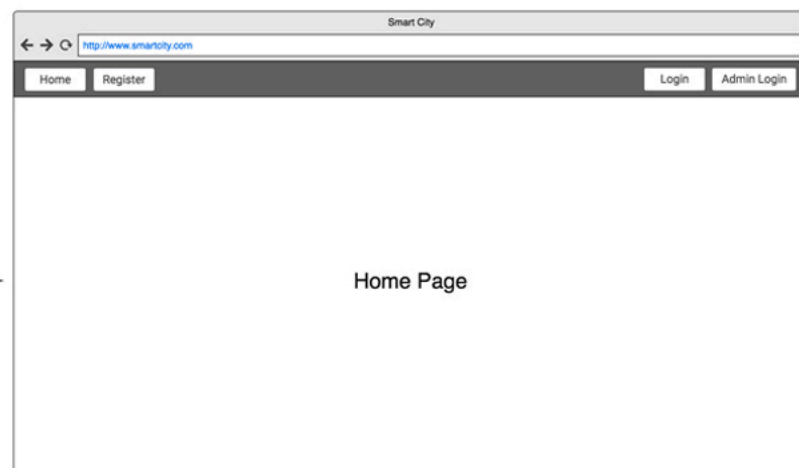

User enters his login details and clicks the submit button to process his request.

User entered incorrect login details and is asked to try again. User enters correct details and hits submit.

User is presented with their custom landing page. User is now done browsing a clicks sign out.

User has been signed out of the web application. The user is redirected back to the home page.